Greetings to Parents

On behalf of my colleagues at the University of California, Irvine, the students we teach, counsel and provide for, and the broader community that we serve, I would like to thank you for your interest in our campus. This is a magnificent place to nurture the dreams and aspirations of your sons and daughters, and we will provide them with academic and co-curricular experiences that will stimulate their intellects, ignite their passions and quench their thirsts for knowledge and information.

But to truly appreciate the UCI experience, I hope you will be as excited as I am about our world-class faculty. From the sciences to the fine arts, we boast a faculty that is always on the cutting-edge of new technologies, new information and new research. Their hands-on work with students is impressive. Indeed, their lives and professional artistry are measured across the landscape of academic classrooms, clinical and counseling treatment rooms, research labs, administrative offices and professional conferences.

UC Irvine has also maintained the ambiance of a small college campus with a strong mutual support network among students, faculty and staff. Although we are a medium size, dynamic university, the campus culture is that of a nurturing and caring environment. This ‘small college feel’ is an aspect of our distinctive legacy in which we take great pride. Through interaction with faculty and staff, quality of instruction, mentoring, encouragement to study abroad, campus diversity and much more, UCI students experience the value we place on ensuring the environment supports the achievement of their education and life-preparation goals.

In taking a closer look at UC Irvine, know that there is a cultural richness to this campus that you need to experience. You will discover that our campus fosters an environment in which your cultural identity is valued and supported. I am but one of many, seeking to extend the legacy of diversity excellence I was blessed to be touched by. Come discover UCI – and you too can know the promise that an Irvine education offers.

We welcome you!

Thomas A. Parham, ’77 Ph.D.
Vice Chancellor, Student Affairs

With cutting-edge academic programs, honors and scholarship opportunities, internships with top tier companies, and a vibrant alumni community, UCI is attracting the best and brightest from around the globe.

NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES MINOR

Explore the complexities of the Native American experience – past and present. Discover the depth and richness of Native American culture through study covering a spectrum of disciplines. The minor in Native American Studies is an interdisciplinary, interschool program, hemispheric in scope. Focusing on North America and Mesoamerica, the three core courses provide an overview respectively of: pre-Columbian history, worldviews, social organization, religion, and the centrality of place; American Indian diplomacy, law and history since 1776; and a critical assessment of colonialism, evolutionary theory, and ethnography.

Upper division course offerings, drawing upon research and teaching specializations of faculty from different departments, further enrich the minor with analysis of Native American literature and histories of native Latin America. The minor is open to all UCI students. Information is available from the undergraduate counseling offices in the Schools of Humanities at www.humanities.uci.edu/SOH and Social Sciences at www.socsci.uci.edu.

Transfer Resources

Prospective transfer students should visit these websites for detailed information:

• assist.org
• ucal.us/transferpathways
• admissions.uci.edu/transfer
Submit your completed application online at ucal.us/apply for fall 2017 admission during the November 1-30 filing period along with the application fee of $70 ($80 if you are an international applicant). To see if you are eligible to waive the application fee, apply for a fee waiver online through the UC Application. UCI does not accept applications for winter or spring quarters.

Students who want to get a head start on preparing their application prior to the November filing period can access the application as early as August 1 at ucal.us/apply. You will need to designate a major on your application. If you have not decided on a major, freshman applicants can apply as an undeclared major. Transfer applicants are required to declare a major.

Personal Insight Questions
As of August 1, 2016, applicants will have a greater opportunity to express who they are and what matters to them on their UC Application. New personal insight questions have replaced the two previous personal statement prompts. Key points about the personal insight questions include:

- Freshman applicants will choose four out of eight questions to answer
- Transfer applicants will answer one required question and three out of seven additional questions
- Each response is limited to a maximum of 350 words

Your personal insight questions should be exactly that – personal. This is your opportunity to tell us about yourself, your hopes, ambitions, life experiences, and inspirations. We encourage you to take your time. Be open, be reflective, and be honest. Your personal insight questions provide context for the rest of your application. Visit ucal.us/apply for details.
Students demonstrating the need for financial assistance may be eligible for scholarships, grants, loans, and/or work-study. Scholarships can also be awarded on the basis of academic excellence. For detailed information about meeting the cost of your education, please visit UCI’s Financial Aid and Scholarships website at www.ofas.uci.edu.

Applying for Scholarships
When you apply for admission to UCI, you are also applying for scholarships. You can be eligible automatically for certain scholarships because decisions are based on information provided in your UC Application. However, other scholarship opportunities may require you submit additional documentation.

Blue + Gold Opportunity Plan
The Blue and Gold Opportunity Plan is a financial aid program intended to expand access to UC for lower-income students. The plan ensures that you will not have to pay UC’s systemwide tuition and fees out of your own pocket if you are a California resident whose total family income is less than $80,000 a year and you qualify for financial aid – and that’s just for starters. Blue and Gold students with sufficient financial need can qualify for even more grant aid to help reduce the cost of attending. Learn more at www.universityofcalifornia.edu/blueandgold.

Free Application Federal Student Aid (FAFSA)
To obtain financial aid you must file a FAFSA. FAFSA is a free application to determine new and continuing students’ eligibility for financial assistance. On the application you will be required to answer numerous questions regarding your and your family’s assets, income, and dependency. It is helpful to have access to your and your family’s income tax returns, W-2 forms, and bank statements in order to complete the FAFSA application.

The UCI School Code is 001314 – you will need this code for the FAFSA application. Visit www.fafsa.gov for the application deadlines and details.
